Join the Child Advocacy Training & Support (CATS) Center team to explore what it can look like when Children's Advocacy Centers (CACs) and their multidisciplinary team (MDT) partners provide children and families with a trauma-informed response.

Overview of NCTSN's 12 Core Concepts for Understanding Traumatic Stress Responses in Children and Families, which offers a conceptual framework and shared language. Plus, a demonstration of UMSL's FORECAST Model. Each FORECAST simulation is a full-day training, so we are choosing one of our favorite modules to share with you. The FORECAST model is interactive and requires audience engagement!

CONFERENCE KEYNOTE: Derek Clark / 8:30am-9:45am

Derek Clark "Rapping Dad"

An inspiring motivational speaker, who overcame a dark and traumatic past, having spent 13 years in the foster care system after enduring abuse, rejection, and abandonment. His early life was filled with challenges that could have easily led him down a destructive path, but Derek refused to be defined by his circumstances.

Through resilience, determination, and a shift in mindset, he learned to transform his pain into purpose. Derek embraced his story not as a victim but as a victor, choosing to write a new narrative of hope, healing, and empowerment. By divorcing himself from the mindset of helplessness, he created a positive destiny, inspiring countless others with his message of resilience, self-empowerment, and the power of owning one's future, regardless of the past. His journey exemplifies the transformative power of personal responsibility and choosing to rise above adversity.

The Power of Adaptability in Communication

Presented by Jen Henry

The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place." We all strive to be respectful and considerate—but even with the best intentions, our conversations can miss the mark. That's why we've invited Jen back to replace confusion with clarity and turn good intentions into effective conversations.

In this engaging closing presentation, Jen will offer a quick refresher on the four Bird Styles, then shifts the focus to something even more powerful: adapting your communication style in real time to better connect with others. When we adjust how we communicate based on who we're speaking with, conversations become clearer, outcomes sharper, and collaboration stronger.

With her signature energy and playful approach, Jen makes it easy to laugh, learn, and apply what you've learned right away. You'll leave not only feeling seen and understood—but also better equipped to create that experience for others.
